Approach

All Company directors, officers and employees share a responsibility in upholding and enforcing these commitments, our Code of Business Conduct and Ethics (our “Code”) and our Anti-Corruption Policy. We integrate onboarding, training, management, due diligence and reporting to identify, prevent, mitigate and take prompt corrective action to address compliance issues. All employees are expected to promptly report any concerns about compliance with laws, our Code and other Company policies. Grievance mechanisms are available at all levels of our organization, including our anonymous reporting hotline, which is a multilingual, 24-hour service operated by an independent third party.

We expect our agents and representatives, including consultants, suppliers, distributors, joint venture partners and other business partners, to respect human rights, align with applicable international standards and adhere to the spirit and intent of these commitments.

To the extent the United Nations or ILO standards referenced herein conflict with United States federal, state and/or local laws and regulations, the Company complies with United States federal, state, and local laws and regulations, and will continue to follow processes that seek ways to honor the principles of international human rights.
